Willow Drive Road Being Greatly Improved

The residents of West Coleman and along Willow Drive have been greatly entertained and encouraged with the all out action of the Provincial Dept. of Public Works in the location of a full road building crew to re-build the road, remove obstructions from the creek and dig drainage ditches to assist in the water run off which is liable to occur during a rainy season as in the past.

Among the road building line of equipment to arrive here and start operations last week were a fully equipped drag-line diesel shovel that has been used during the past ten days in dredging the creeks, digging the drainage ditches along the road and loading the several trucks that have been spreading the gravel and removed dirt on the Willow Drive roadway. This work has been found most favorable since the operations began and the roadway is now beginning to take on the most wholesome appearance it has ever assumed. Starting this week the re-gravelling of the road has begun, with a deisel bull-dozor working on the unloaded gravel from the east end of the drive, and increasing the width of the drive.

The people living in West Coleman and along the drive are not only encouraged by the fact that flood danger is being reduced, but also by the fact that drainage of some of the water accumulating areas will help in the eradication of the mosquitos which have been prevalent in the district every summer.

Irvin Frew, Forest Ranger Transferred To Calgary

Forest ranger Irvin Frew, who for the past two years has resided in Coleman and has since his stay here won the whole-hearted support and friendship of the community by virtue of his great interest in the social and athletic affairs of the town, left last weekend for Calgary where he will assume his new duties as district ranger in that area.

He will be missed to a great extent by the Coleman intermediate hockey club which he piloted to the Western Canada championship in 1947.

During his last few days here he was kept exceptionally busy, by supervising the unloading of tons of equipment that is to be used in the construction of the new forest highway planned to connect the forest range in this district with that at Kananaskis, near Banff.

Al Freeman of the Beaver Mines forestry station is to succeed Mr. Frew here. Mr. Freeman is well known to the district as he has been stationed in this area's forestry service for several years. Awaiting his arrival the local ranger station is in charge of the resident assistant ranger, Jerry Plant.

School Safety Patrol To Be Honored At Banquet

J. F. Giesen, of the Alberta Motor Association was in Coleman this week and during his stop took active interest in viewing the activities of the local School Safety Patrol, and commented that the local Patrol was doing a very fine job in the direction of the school children under their charge. He also was of the opinion that all motorists should show their fullest co-operation with the members of the Patrol in the direction of the youngsters whose safety crossing the streets was their responsibility.

The local Patrol has also been extended an invitation to a banquet to be held by the Alberta Motor Association in Lethbridge sometime in June, which is to be given to extend honor to all Southern Alberta School Patrols, which have done so much in enforcing the safety of their town's school students.

Enjoyable Social Hour At United Church

Following the evening services held on Sunday last at St. Paul's United Church, a social hour was held, with members of the congregation of St. Alban's Anglican church being invited to take part.

During the evening those attending were entertained by a showing by Sergeant Murray of three interesting moving picture films on social conditions in Europe, and a brief musical program arranged by Mrs. F. W. Smith, leader of the junior choir which was as follows:

Solo by Eddie Ledieu.
Duet by Margaret McDonald and Carol D'Amico.
Quartet by Laura Owen, Thelma Smith, Walter Roper and Leslie Owen.

Two instrumental trios by Evan Gushul and John Owen; violinists, and R. Woods, clarinetist.

The Women's Association served a dainty luncheon, and the evening was brought to a close by the gathering singing the outstanding hymn "Blest be the Tie that Binds," and Rev. R. Magowan leading in a brief prayer.

The titles of the films shown were: "Hungry Minds", based on European conditions as the after math of the war; "Oslo Youth Conference" which was held in 1947, and "Singing Stars of Tomorrow", in which 4 outstanding artists took part.

CBC Artists To Visit Coleman

Jimmie Johnston

Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston, who in professional circles are known as Jimmie Johnston and Cathie Graham, are expected here on May 20-21 to assist in celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnston.

Coleman old-timers will recall that Jimmie was born here and left with his parents in the early twenties to reside in Vancouver. He served with the R.C.A.F. during the war, and after his discharge studied drama, in New York, at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. He is appearing regularly on Trans-Canada dramatic programs originating in Vancouver. Local listeners have heard him many times during the past winter season on "Vancouver Theatre". A few weeks ago he was asked to appear with James Melton on his "Harvest of Stars" program, and he has now been signed up to direct a series of productions for "Theatre under the Stars" that popular summertime tourist attraction in Stanley Park. For relaxation he likes to direct Little Theatre groups around the city, and his hobby is catering to the wishes of his daughter Janice, aged five years.

Cathie Graham Johnston also has acting much in her blood. She's a leading lady in the Vancouver Little Theatre, Canada's oldest professional group of its kind. On the air she's a favorite with listeners to Vancouver Theatre and other Trans-Canada feature drama shows. B.C. listeners know Cathie Graham as one of the four "regulars" in the Carson Family, a popular noon-hour farm broadcast. She plays the wife of Bill Tandy. Incidentally, her husband Jimmie plays the part of Bill Tandy in the farm broadcast too! Cathie's hobby is being a good wife and mother.

Coleman Council Concerned Over The Building Of Homes Without A Town Permit

The Coleman Council Meeting held last week, was fully attended by all members, and had an outstandingly busy session, dealing with many of the local problems, with the building of local homes without permits from the town topping the list of needed attention.

Councillor Jenkins led the way in this respect by his statement. "I think it's time we got tough and fined these people who are building without permits". It was learned that at least two buildings were being built in Coleman without necessary permits.

Councillor Wood supported Jenkin's stand, but other members pointed out the dubious legality of such action unless backed by a by-law, which the town did not at present have on record. "Well, what do we issue permits for?" maintained Jenkins. This drew the answer that the need of permits for such building up to now was for the purpose of guiding the town in its assessment valuation.

Suggested Action
Councillor Jenkins suggested. "Something will have to be done about it, we can not go on without settling this question once and for all. Mayor Abousafy agreed with the councillors and suggested as a preliminary step that Foreman Joe Malanchuk be given authority to issue permits as he was in a position to come across any new buildings being started in the course of his duties which took him all over town.

The Council agreed to the Mayor's suggestion with the modification that at least two members of the building committee be contacted by the foreman for approval before issuing permits. "We'd better have a clean cut ruling on this", interjected Councillor Wood, "or we'll have to increase the order for the chief's new revolver from two to a dozen".

Bus Parking Needs Improvement
Persistent violations of the town's parking regulations by Greyhound buses resulted in considerable discussion over the question of providing parking areas for such vehicles and in this connection in levelling off of that area where the old community hall once stood was suggested as one solution to this problem. Some councillors thought this would provide a temporary stop for such parking but its full purpose would depend on what use the owners of the property decided for it. In the meantime, council gave instructions that the Greyhound company and its agents be informed that buses must park in conformity with the town's parking regulations.

Working Outside Property Holdings Into Town Governing
Among matters again brought up before the meeting was that of "The Border Incident". The area in question being that of the border which lies between the town of Coleman and the adjoining suburb of Grafton-town. A homebuilder had his home right on the dividing line and at a former meeting had sought the town council's assurance that he would be provided with water service from Coleman. The bringing of adjoining suburbs into the town's administration was brought forward by Mayor Abousafy, and was considered a risky precedent by some councillors. "If we do this, someone is going to build on the extreme end of it and demand that we give them service too," said Councillor Ramsay.

Mayor Abousafy maintained that lots in the area, if brought under Coleman's jurisdiction, should be sold on a consecutive basis so that the question of providing water to them would merely be a matter of extending the lines from the preceding property. It was then decided to give the entire matter an exhaustive study before reaching a final settlement.

No actual time removal limit was set, but Councillor Jenkins stated "It's got to be done before next winter, that's certain".

Officials Of Credit Union Outline Duties

Once a year in the months of January or February, a public meeting is held of all members of the different committees of the Credit Union. During this meeting the members of the different committees are elected. There are three different committees; 1, directors; 2, credit committee; 3, supervisory committee.

The duty of the directors is to see that the Credit Union is run according to the provisions in the Credit Union Act. There are seven directors, and from this group is chosen a president, who this year is Mr. I. Raymond, and a secretary, Stan Kwansy, a treasurer; Mr. John P. Ondrus; and a vice president, Mr. Guido Lant.

The duty of the president is to preside over the meetings and read the report of the affairs of the directors' committee. He also countersigns all checks. If the president is absent the vice president takes his place. The secretary, practically all he does is record the minutes of the meeting and notify all members of meetings. The treasurer is the general manager of the Credit Unions. He signs all cheques, and keeps an accurate record of all business transactions. He keeps track of all the cash, and securities, and before the seventh day of the month submits a report to the supervisor in Edmonton about the activities of the Credit Union. The rest of the directors, Rev. Father Sullivan, A. Morris, J. Sinora Jr., W. Cieslak and F. Kyncl, are there to help him and also to determine the interest rate on loans and on deposits.

The Credit Committee are the ones who review the applicants for a loan, and approve or disapprove of the borrower. They determine the security or guarantors required, and on what terms the payments shall be made. The gentlemen elected to this job this year are A. Wilson, J. Kiganan and Ed. Krywolt.

The supervisory Committee examines the treasurer's books and sees that everything is okay, they audit the books and submit the written report to the directors, they also check to see if the loan applications are put into permanent file. The members are C. Coover, H. Dunlop, E. Fabro.

Every one of the above mentioned gentlemen was elected by the Credit Union members, and is there to help you and advise you, so if you want any information or clarification of any point just get in touch with anyone of them and they will do all in their power to help you. ## Canadian Culture

IN ANY NEW COUNTRY emphasis is naturally placed on the establishing of industries, the building of highways and railroads and developing the natural resources. The cultural side of a nation's life grows more slowly than the industrial and economic structure, and its development cannot be rushed as can the building of roads, bridges and factories. Canada is still a young nation as compared to the countries of Europe and Asia and although there has always been a cultural side to the life of the country, letters here, many people have been impatient to see the cultural side of our life develop more rapidly.

Shows Thoughts Of The People

The culture of any country bears the marks of the character of its people, and shows the influence of its geographical position, its climate and the nature and thoughts of its citizens. Recently the Dominion Government set up a commission to investigate the development of arts, science and letters in Canada, and to suggest ways in which they could be encouraged to advance further along national lines. The Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Chancellor of the University of Toronto, who is well known throughout Canada for his interest in the advancement of culture, is the chairman. Associated with him, in addition to two representatives from Quebec, are Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia and Dr. Hilda Neatby, professor of history at Saskatchewan University.

Inquire Into Many Subjects

It is believed by the Government that by setting up this commission, the people will become better acquainted with the character of Canadian culture and that ways may be found to encourage advancement in the fields of science, arts and literature. Some of the subjects into which the commission is making inquiries include: the National Art Gallery, the National War Museum, the methods through which research is aided, grants and scholarships made by various government agencies, the policy of Canada in regard to radio and television broadcasting and many other subjects. The results of these investigations will be of interest to all Canadians and will without doubt be instrumental in encouraging the advancement of culture in Canada along national lines.

Alberta Coal Production Up

EDMONTON.—Alberta's coal production in 1948 was 8,111,000 tons, 36,400 tons over that of 1947, according to a report issued by Hon. N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Mines, despite a shortage of box cars and an extended strike last February. Increase was valued at $5,557,700.

There was a decrease of 103,166 man-shifts from the 1947 figure of 1,998,000. Nearly 10,000 men were hired as coal mine employees in December, 1948.

Of the total output, the railroads took 2,312,000 tons, Alberta customers 1,282,000, B.C. 945,000 and Manitoba 625,000. As much coal was shipped to Japan as was taken by Ontario about 20,000 tons. Coke and briquette manufacture took 380,000 tons.

Number of fatal accidents in Alberta was 13, a reduction of two from 1947. This works out to 1.6 fatalities per million tons of coal mined, a figure which is said to compare favorably with the rate in U.S. and Britain. The trend toward the use of protective equipment is "proceeding satisfactorily," the report stated. The accident total in 1947 was 197, compared with 253 for 1946.

A species of water lily growing in the Amazon river, South America, has leaves so broad and firm that they will bear a child's weight.

Underground Cistern

FOR an underground cistern we recommend the circular type with a domed top such as is shown in the accompanying drawing. The cistern will hold about 62 barrels of water or about 2,000 gallons. In a circular cistern this would require one 7 feet in inside diameter and about 8 feet deep below the level of the overflow pipe.

To make such a cistern the walls should be about 6 inches thick. Usually an outside form is not necessary, the excavation being made as true as possible and inside forms only being used. It is usually best to hang strips of building paper down over the edge of the excavation while concrete is placed, to keep soil from falling into the concrete. Circular forms for the inside, about 2 feet high, can be used and these should be made in two halves with wedge shaped blocks between the two halves, so that the forms can readily be removed after removing the blocks, to permit them to be raised to higher positions when the lower portion of the wall has hardened sufficiently.

The concrete mixture for this cistern should be 1 part of cement to Diagram of underground cistern.

2 parts of sand and 3 parts of crushed stone or screened pebbles. To make the cistern and the domed top would take 45 sacks of cement, 31 cu. yds. of sand and 5 cu. yds. of crushed stone or screened pebbles. In making the domed top, a platform is built inside the cistern, supporting it on posts and crossbars. Then, moist sand is placed on the platform and shaped to resemble one-half of a sphere. The concrete mixture is then put in place over the sand, using a very stiff mixture that will pack readily and stay in place.

To make the manhole a large dishpan set on the sand over the centre of the cistern makes a good outside form. The same pan can then be used to cast a concrete manhole cover.

When the concrete has hardened, a good deal of the sand may be removed through the manhole, after which the platform and the supports are removed. In building the platform it is best to use short lumber which is more readily removed through the manhole than would be possible with longer pieces. In supporting the platform, it is best to place double wedges driven over each other between the cross members supporting the platform and the ends of the posts, so that the wedges can readily be removed and the posts loosened for easier removal after the cistern is completed.

You should have no trouble with freezing of the water in this cistern if the overflow pipe is at a level of about 2 feet below ground surface.

Gas Pipeline Route Surveyed

WINNIPEG.—A survey now is being made of a gas pipeline route to bring natural gas from oil and gas fields of Alberta to Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man., L. D. M. Baxter said.

Mr. Baxter, President of Oleser, Hammond and Nanton, Winnipeg financial house backing the project, made the announcement of the project. The Dominion government approved a bill to incorporate the company which will operate the pipeline.

The company plans to spend at least $45,000,000 in bringing gas from Alberta to Winnipeg.

Mr. Baxter said he could not say when gas would be laid down to Winnipeg consumers. Some matters were still to be cleared up.

The transport board must approve the construction of the line and the company must obtain an export permit from the Alberta government before it can pipe gas out of that province.

Know Your Provinces

Saskatchewan Has Widespread Distribution Of Valuable Clays

SASKATCHEWAN is very fortunate in possessing a widespread distribution of valuable clays, ranging from common brick and tile clays, to high grade pottery and semi-china clays. Clays vary so widely in colour, texture and physical properties that it would be impossible to give a description of the different varieties from which they could be recognized, and in many cases only burning and laboratory testing determines their value.

For all structural material like brick and tile, fire proofing, paving brick, sewer pipe, terra cotta, redware pottery, etc., are to be found in the following well known districts of: Estevan, Arcola, Broadview, Saskatoon, Bruno, Prince Albert, Tantallon, Swift Current and other points.

Cypress Hills District
Among the most important clay fields or centres of Saskatchewan is that of the Eastend-Ravensrag district, in the Cypress Hills, near the southwest corner of the province. The deposits of clay in this area are not as refractory as those further east but are of the earthenware and stoneware types highly suited to the manufacture of Rockingham, yellowware and a wide range of stoneware including chemical stoneware, or clay products that are burned to vitrified bodies in a range from cones five to nine.

The mining of the raw clays in this field is a comparatively simple matter, owing to the flat lying character of the beds and the open nature of the exposures in the cañonsides, making the deposits easy of access. The favourable situation of the area as regards transportation is apparent.

The district is well supplied with excellent water by the Frenchman River, which traverses the entire length of the field from west to east, furnishing an abundant supply of water during all seasons of the year.

Lake of the Rivers District
Although over 150 miles east of the Cypress Hills clay area, the clays in the Lake of the Rivers district are part of the same formation, namely the "Whitemud" division of the Fort Union. This area is one of the most centrally located of the Saskatchewan pottery clay fields. It is situated approximately 55 miles south of Moose Jaw on the Weyburn-Assiniboia branch of C.P. railway.

The railway crosses the Lake of the Rivers valley near Willow and at this point, about a mile and a half north of the railway, there are large exposures of the white hand clays. It is from these exposures that the Alberta clay plants ship large quantities of raw clay to Medicine Hat, where it is mixed with Eastend clay for the manufacture of pottery and sewer pipe.

The Estevan District
No white burning clays are found as far east in the province as Estevan. The valuable ligate seams of the area are contained in the Estevan formation. For many years a company has manufactured common brick, face brick and buff hollow brick and tile from clays associated with the coal seams of the district.

In 1945 the Provincial Government took over the existing clay products plant located at Estevan and are now operating it as a crown corporation.

The Dirt Hills District
In view of the scarcity of refractory clays in other parts of the Dominion, the fire clays of the Dirt Hills district of Saskatchewan are of singular interest and importance.

The Dirt Hills form an isolated elevation rising from the plains about 30 miles south of Moose Jaw. Several extensive land slides on the northern front of the Dirt Hills disclose sections of formations from 200 to 300 feet thick. It is in these exposures that some of the most refractory clays discovered in Western Canada occur.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS

Memories For Mother's Day

By JANE DALE

Mother, I'm thinking of you tonight.
The children are sleeping; the day's work over.
The house is quiet and in the silence
Memory for me holds the door.

My memories will be a message to you,
A gift from your daughter on Mother's Day.

I repeat again, I love you so dearly,
Though I be many miles away.

I remember the love you had for each child
And the haven you made of our home.

You tucked us in bed with a kiss and a word,
And a prayer for the absent one who would roam.

Often you were weary at the close of the day
When wifely and naughty we'd be Yet you never denied us the forgiving word.

We found in your arms sanctuary,
More precious to me now than silver or gold.

Are the memories, my mother, of you,
And I ask God's help as years pass away.

To your love and devotion be true.

LIFE OF A PRAIRIE PARSON

By Stanley G. Matthews in The Montreal Daily Star

Winter has come and gone. For Easterners it was less stormy than those of previous years, its mildness bringing cheer and comfort to those who were in need of those blessings. But perhaps the East basked in comparative pleasantness because winter

On the Prairies the snows fell deep and stayed long. Winds whistled across the flatness of the land and whipped huge drifts across the roads. For long periods at a time neighbors — and neighbors they were despite the fact their homes were often a mile or more apart — were unable to visit one another. Winter exercised its grip with a paralyzing might.

Duties on the farms were carried out, although the cases of farmers being lost between the house and the barn were not rare. On Sundays, if the weather cleared, the sleighs — so long put aside in favor of motor travel — were pulled out, and the farmers and their families journeyed to church. Occasionally one of the more daring families ventured on their trip by automobile.

Among the latter were the clergymen. The heavy snow was no excuse for the cancellation of services. Most of them have "circuit parishes" which contain two, three and often more churches, each separated from the other by many miles. To reach all of them on a Sunday, a horse and sleigh would be too slow. The old family car had to do the trick.

Not only on Sunday did the pastors visit their widespread flock; on every day of the week they were on the road, scattering the snow like dust behind them as they sped from one home, from one hospital to another. Weather which froze cattle in their tracks, which buried homes in snow, which swept the highways clear of almost all traffic did not stop the prairie parsons.

And their wives went with them. One of those parsons and one of those wives were a young Anglican couple in charge of a remote Alberta parish. Like many parsonage wives, this woman accompanied her husband on all of his trips. Recently she wrote down her impressions of the daily life of a country clergyman as seen through the eyes of his wife. "I am indebted to Rev. Canon R. K. Naylor, rector of Trinity Memorial Anglican Church, for a copy of it. I have taken the liberty of substituting fictitious names for places mentioned in it. Here it is:

Monday, cold, snowing intermittently, but let for Brownburg at 1 p.m. for service there, as arranged by mail with the Lay Reader. Twenty-eight miles of icy country road occasionally drifted. Arrived at Brownburg to find service was cancelled as many roads blocked and parishioners unable to attend. Visited several families in the village, were invited to supper by the Lay Reader and his wife, then out in the cold and snow for the return journey. Tuesday. Set out after an early

This Cat Really Scared By Canary

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Ind. — Here is James W. Wright's tale of the cat and the canary.

Wright's jet black Persian tried to get at his canary. The bird's cage fell with a loud clatter and the frightened cat scampered for shelter.

When it re-appeared the next day, it had a white ring around its neck, Wright says. The ring has spread and now only the cat's tail remains black.

That we visit as the parish is very extensive. The churches where services are held, six in all, are different each Sunday, but there are always three services, occasionally four. Then, too, there is an occasional service or funeral at one of the six additional churches where regular services are not held.

The parish is large: from Maxwell, it extends west about 30 miles, south 25 miles and north 30 miles, then it's 26 miles east to Johnston, and from that point it is another 15 miles east, 30 miles north, and 20 miles south.

SILVER WEDDING

The happy celebration of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr and Mrs. Karol Gejdos was held in the couple's West Coleman home last week. They have been local residents for the past 22 years, coming here from Dubra-va, Czechoslovakia, where they were married.

Over fifty guests, including several from Skiff, Alta, were on hand to help the couple celebrate their silver wedding. They were the recipients of numerous gifts from their many well-wishers which included two sets of silver-ware services and a silverware set.

Among those attending the anniversary celebration were Father Sullivan of Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. A. Gajdos and family of Skiff, Alta.

A recording of the festivities was made and greatly appreciated, with one side being devoted to recording the greetings from each of their children, and the other side registering a speech on the affair by Mr. L.
Kulivoda.

Mr. Karol Gejdos was an employee in the McGillivray mine for 20 years, and for the past two years he managed the Empire Cafe, and now the Fashion Shop here in Coleman.

Coleman Cancer Drive Gets Started

Chairman Fred Guerard has again zoned the town and canvassers have started on their annual job. While very little canvassing has been done the individual response of the few who have been canvassed has been very good. As was to be expected there has been no outright refusals and "call-backs" are rare. The campaign promises to be as successful as last year and Coleman should again go over the $1300 mark.

The Lions feel confident that the citizens of Coleman will again do their share towards stamping out this menace.

Make The Tourist Feel At Home

Coleman is on one of the main tourist motor roads in Alberta. Therefore, everyone in this community stands to benefit directly from the traffic this season.

Reliable surveys show that visitors buy cleanliness in preference to branded products. Gasoline is gasoline to them—even when they travel on a credit card. One kind is as good as another to them so they buy from the cleanest service station.

They eat because they must—not for entertainment—and they choose the cleanest restaurant. They scout around for the most comfortable beds—and tell their friends where they found them.

Frequently they need articles of clothing and they would just as soon buy here as in a big city—if the shop window is bright and the goods attractively displayed.

Citizens of Coleman are well known for their hospitality and the warm western welcome they extend to visitors who like to chat and find out something about the district so, introduce yourself to visitors and get acquainted with them.

Let's be friendly.

Courtesy pays!

TIGHTEN SUSPENSIONS OF DRIVERS' LICENSES

New amendments to the Vehicles and Highways Traffic Act passed at the last session of the legislature of Alberta tightened the regulations on drivers' licenses.

One provides that the provincial secretary may suspend for six months the licenses of a driver or chauffeur who is convicted twice within a period of 12 months.

Before such license is suspended, the driver in the opinion of the minister must have been involved in an accident which resulted in bodily injury or death of any person or damage to property in excess of $100.

The act also says the minister shall suspend the drivers' or chauffeur's licenses for 12 months of any such driver or chauffeur who has been found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, contrary to the provisions of the Criminal Code.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association say the act provides that the magistrate making such convictions shall forward the license of such car driver or chauffeur to the provincial secretary for such action as may be decided.

The act also provides that no person under the age of 16 years shall drive any scooter or power bicycle unless its motor is governed so that it is unable to attain a speed in excess of 20 miles an hour.

GRADE IX EXAMINATIONS OPEN ONE DAY EARLIER

The calling of a Dominion election, to be held Monday, June 27, has necessitated some change in the Department of Education's time-table for Grade IX examinations in order that rural schools may be made available as polling places. The Grade IX examinations, which were scheduled to commence Friday, June 24, will commence instead Thursday, June 23, with the Social Studies paper originally scheduled for Friday, being written on Thursday, and the General Test, Literature Test and Reading Test, which were scheduled for Monday, June 27, being written on Friday, June 24. There will be no Grade IX examination on Monday, June 27.

No change is being effected with respect to Grade XII examinations which will proceed as already announced, beginning Thursday, June 23. It is presumed that wherever Grade XII examinations are written it will be possible to effect polling arrangements which will not necessitate interference with the Grade XII examinations.

Greater Safety On Highways Urged

Greater safety on Alberta highways is being emphasized by officials of the Alberta Motor Association and other organizations.

With the traffic volume now increasing it is necessary to be on the alert at level crossings and to guard against other hazards. Already the level crossing toll is causing alarm in different parts of the country.

It also appears there is need for greater education as to pedestrian safety activities.

Recently it was reported in the U.S. that every 78 minutes a pedestrian met death in city traffic last year. Also, persons afoot accounted for 60 per cent of all urban traffic deaths.

To cope with the situation, national pedestrian protection contests have been organized. These are designed to carry out or bring about more effective programs leading to reduced pedestrian injuries and deaths.

In Alberta, much can be done along the line of encouraging pedestrian safety. School safety activities and public education will accomplish a great deal.

According to police, Mrs. Garnier allegedly declared she shot Owen because he threatened to transfer his affections to Miss Rich. ## OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

DISILLUSION

By Charlotte McCarthy

SHE glanced at him, seeing without being aware of his good, open young face, and the crisp wave in his dark hair. "I've got to hurry, Steve will be—"

"Steve will be waiting," he finished the sentence for her. "I'll wait until he comes. You've done plenty of waiting around for him."

Vaguely unhappy, her eyes were guarded. "You don't like him, do you, Al?"

"I just don't think he's the right guy for you, but then I may be prejudiced. If you ever decide I'm right, I'll be around."

Her smile was very gentle. "You're so nice, Al. Only—"

"Well, run along. Your kids can always call me Uncle Al."

She hurried along the quiet street. Steve hated to wait. Always, when they had a date, she tried to be the first. The corner booth was empty, and she slipped thankfully into it, groping in her purse for an elusive compact. A shiny nose was another of Steve's personal dislikes.

A waiter, without bothering to take the order, placed a glass of sherry carefully in front of her. "You so nice, Al. Only—"
